Introduction

This report details UW-Madison study abroad participation for the Academic Year 2010-11 (Fall '10 through Summer '11), as reported in the Institute of International Education's Open Doors 2010-11 institutional data report regarding international educational exchange (<http://opendoors.iienetwork.org/>). Tables and charts include U.S. students (citizens and permanent residents) enrolled for a degree at UW-Madison who received academic credit for their study abroad experience.

In this report, an "Administrative Unit" is the UW-Madison department, school, college, or other unit organizing the posting for coursework completed while abroad. Included in this report are the following administrative units: International Academic Programs (IAP), School of Business, College of Engineering, College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, History Department, Law School, Division of International Studies, and the French & Italian Department.

Students who did not study through an "Administrative Unit" either went on a program that was not sponsored by UW-Madison (and received transfer credit through the Office of Undergraduate Admissions) or received academic credit through their departments for research, internships, or classes abroad.

Summary

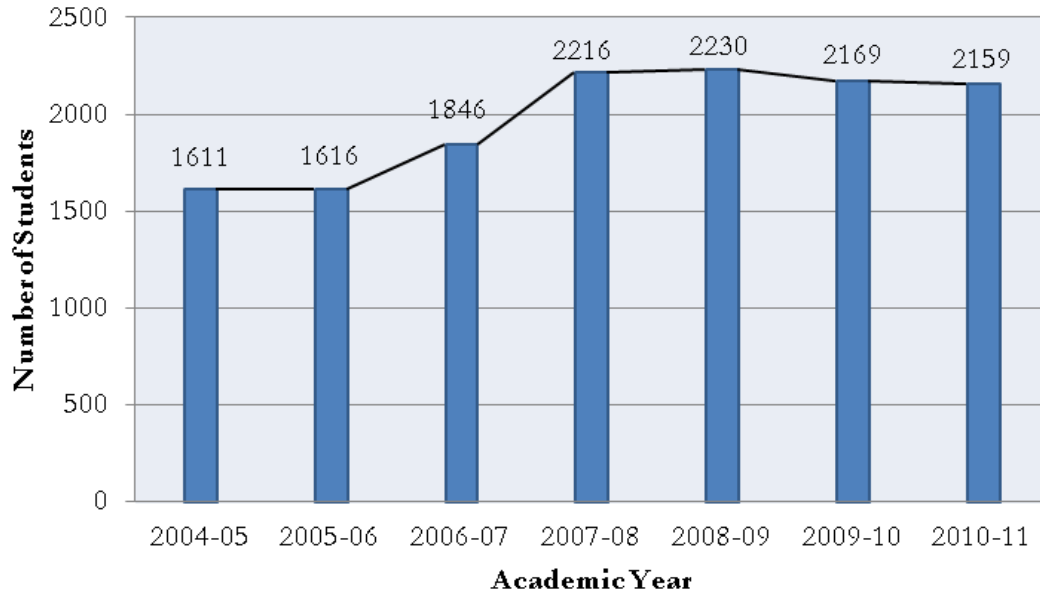

The number of UW-Madison students earning credit for study abroad in 2010-11 was 2,159 students, a modest decrease of 0.5% from the 2009-10 academic year (See Table 1). A total of 273,996 U.S. students studied abroad in 2010-11 according to the Institute of International Education's Open Doors 2010-11—a 1.3% increase from the previous year. In Open Doors 2010-11, UW-Madison was ranked 9th among the leading institutions by total number of study abroad students for the academic year 2010-11, following New York University (3,799), Michigan State University (2,577), University of Minnesota—Twin Cities (2,562), University of California—Los Angeles (2,451), University of Texas—Austin (2,350), University of Southern California (2,340), Indiana University—Bloomington (2,203), and University of Pennsylvania (2,198).

UW-Madison programs attracted a greater proportion of female (65.4%) to male (34.6%) participants compared with the UW-Madison campus ratio of 51.4% female to 48.6% male. However, the proportion was similar to data on all U.S. study abroad participants according to the latest Institute of International Education (IIE) figures as reported in Open Doors 2010-11 (64.4% female to 35.6% male).

UW-Madison students received credit for study in 78 countries on six continents. Consistent with national trends, Europe continues to be the most popular study abroad destination for UW-Madison students, accounting for 52.9% of all UW-Madison study abroad participants. Spain was once again the most popular destination, with a total of 266 students (down 6.4% from the previous year). The United Kingdom increased to second place with 191 students (an increase of 9.1%). China rose to third place with 180 students (an increase of 25.9%), followed by #4 Italy (178, down 10.6%), and #5 France (132, down 17.5%). Other notable destinations in the top 10 were: #8 Multiple Destinations (74, 270% increase), #9 Brazil (72, up 148.3%), and #11 Dominican Republic (53, 657% increase).

The percentage of UW-Madison students on year-long programs (7.1%) continues to be greater than the proportion of students nationally on year-long programs (3.9%) according to Open Doors 2010-11. Unlike many of the top ranking institutions that have high numbers of study abroad participants due to large enrollments in short term programs, UW-Madison sends most students abroad for one or two full terms during the academic year. Campus wide, 51.0% of students abroad participated for one full term in 2010-11, compared to the 2009-10 national average of 35.8%. In Open Doors 2010-11, UW-Madison was ranked 6th among research institutions in number of students on long-term (year) programs and 4th in number of students on mid-length (semester) programs.

* Data includes U.S. students (citizens and permanent residents) enrolled for a degree at UW-Madison

Table 3. UW-Madison Participants who Studied Abroad Outside of a Study Abroad Administrative Unit

Experience Abroad	Participants	Percentage
College of Agriculture and Life Sciences	16	2.62%
Chadbourne Residential College	41	6.71%
Law School Mock Trials Abroad	4	0.65%
Professional French Masters Program Internships	12	1.96%
Research Done Abroad for Academic Credit	61	9.98%
School of Business Classes	222	36.33%
School of Medicine Clinicals Done Abroad	11	1.80%
School of Veterinary Medicine Externships Abroad	8	1.31%
Undergraduate Students on Non-UW Programs	236	38.63%
Total	611	100.00%

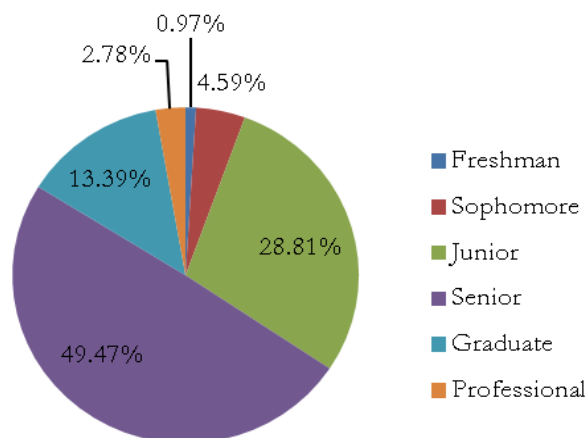

Table 4. Participation by Gender

A greater proportion of female students (65.4%) studied abroad in 2010-11 compared with the UW-Madison campus ratio of 51.4% female to 48.6% male (Source: UW-Madison Data Digest). The study abroad proportion, however, is similar to national data on study abroad participants according to the latest IIE figures, as reported in Open Doors 2010-11 (64.4% female to 35.6% male).

Gender	Participants	Percentage
Male	748	65.40%
Female	1411	34.60%
Total	2159	100.00%

Table 5. Participation by Academic Level

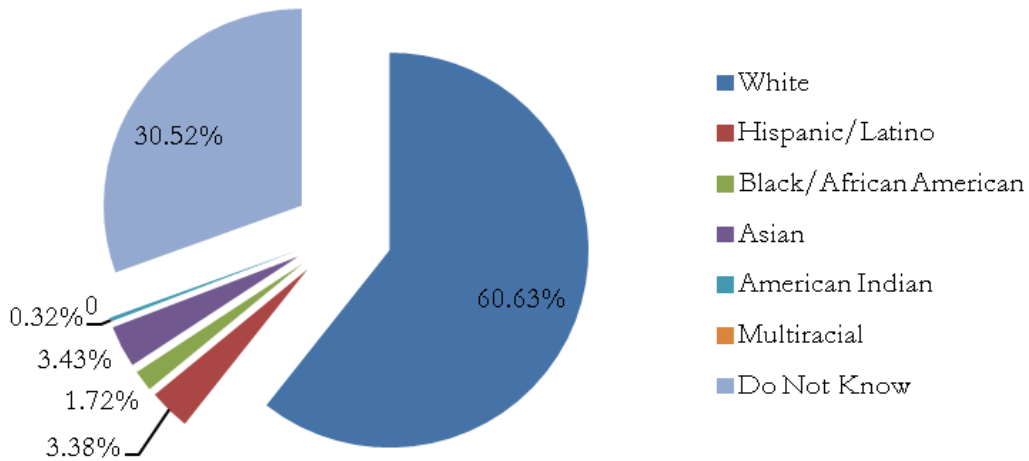

Academic Level	Participants	Percentage
Freshman	21	0.97%
Sophomore	99	4.59%
Junior	622	28.81%
Senior	1068	49.47%
Graduate	289	13.39%
Professional	60	2.78%
Total	2159	100.00%

The greatest proportion of study abroad participants in 2010-11 was seniors. The designation of a student’s academic level is based on credits accrued prior to that term, so many students classified as seniors may have only be in their third year of study at the university.

*Professional students consist of students in the Law School, School of Pharmacy, School of Medicine and Public Health, and School of Veterinary Medicine.

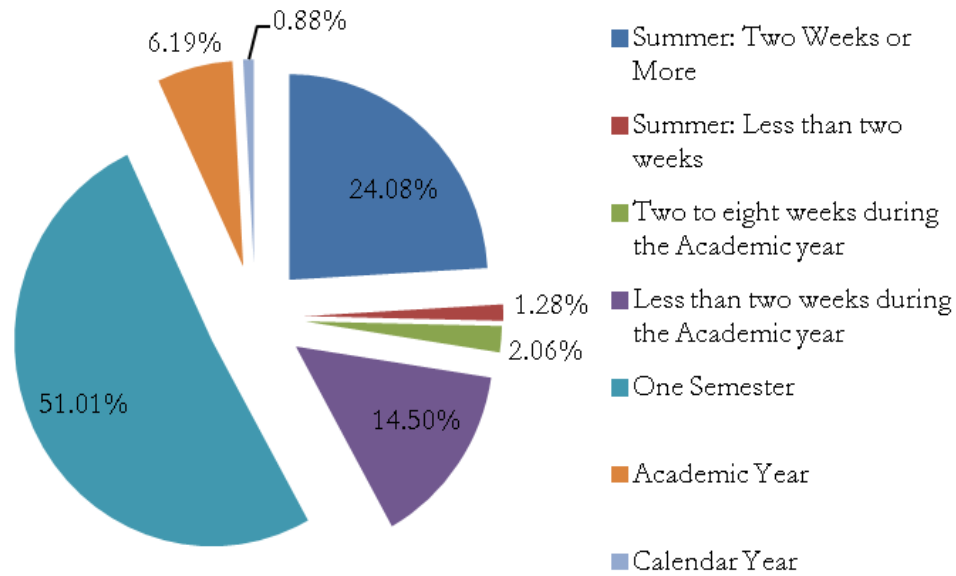

Table 6. Participation by Race/Ethnicity*

Race/Ethnicity	Participants	Percentage
