The exchange program in Wageningen, Netherlands is offered by International Academic Programs (IAP) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison in conjunction with the Wageningen University. This IAP Program Handbook supplements handbook(s) or materials you receive from Wageningen University as well as the IAP Study Abroad Handbook and provides you with the most up-to-date information and advice available at the time of printing. Changes may occur before your departure or while you are abroad.

Questions about your program abroad (housing options, facilities abroad, etc.) as well as questions relating to your relationship with your host university or academics (e.g. course credit and equivalents, registration deadlines, etc.) should be directed to International Academic Programs at UW-Madison.

Program Dates
At Wageningen University, the academic year (from the first week in September to August) is divided into five terms: four terms of eight weeks each and a fifth term of eleven weeks. An eight weeks’ term consists of three parts: six weeks for lectures and practicals, one week for examination preparation and one week for examinations. The fifth term consists of ten weeks for lessons (mainly practicals) and one week for examination preparation and examinations. Re-exams for all subjects are organized at the end of the summer holidays, in August. During public holidays no lectures and examinations are offered. The same applies for Christmas and summer holidays.

Detailed information about arrival dates will be provided by Wageningen University. Please review these details carefully.

Dates for 2013-2014

- Period 1 Sept 2 – Oct 10
- Period 2 Oct 28 – Dec 16
- Period 3 Jan 1 – Jan 27
- Period 4 Feb 17 – Mar 10
- Period 5 Mar 17 – May 5
- Period 6 May 12 – June 30

Immigration Documents

Passport
A passport is needed to travel to the Netherlands and to obtain your residence permit. Apply immediately for a passport if you do not already have one. Passport information and application forms can be found on the U.S. State Department website (http://travel.state.gov/passport). If you already have your passport, make sure it will be valid for at least 6 months beyond the length of your stay abroad.

Residence Permit: A residence permit is required for all non-EU citizens staying in the Netherlands for a period longer than 3 months. Upon arrival, inquire at the International Office for help in submitting an application for a residence permit and register with the local authorities. The following items will need to be presented:

- Valid passport
- Copy of your housing contract
- University Acceptance Letter
- Passport-size photograph
- Proof of health insurance
- Proof of financial means (e.g. bank statement or declaration from your bank, scholarship/financial aid letter, and/or financial statement from your parents, verifying that you have at least 755 Euro per month to cover your stay in the Netherlands)
- Fee (payable by Master Card/Visa or bank transfer)

The police and/or the town hall (GBA) must be notified of any change of address while you are in The Netherlands and should be notified when you leave the Netherlands. For more information about visa and immigration procedures, visit www.uu.nl/visa and www.nuffic.nl/immigration/.

Visa:
Wageningen prefers for international students to apply for a visa prior to arrival in the country. Please see the following website for more instructions on how to complete the
Handling Money Abroad
The official currency of the Netherlands is the Euro (EUR), with 1 Euro equaling 100 cents. As of 3/21/12, the exchange rate was $1 USD to 0.77 Euro. You should bring some money with you in cash for incidental purchases as well as for bus and train fares. You will need to exchange money at the airport. Be sure to ask for small bills so you can pay for transportation to Wageningen and your accommodations without needing too much change. Please check currency exchange sites, such as Oanda at www.oanda.com before departing.

You can exchange money at any bank, post offices and special exchange banks located at all large train stations. Most banks are open Monday through Friday, 9:00 am to 5:00 or 6:00 pm. The Rabobank is also open on Saturday from 10:00 am to 12:30 pm. ATMs are readily available in Wageningen and throughout the Netherlands.

Banks
While it is possible for international students to open a bank account in the Netherlands, this may take a week or two to arrange after your arrival. If you are staying in the Netherlands for less than one year, you may have to pay fees to open the account. If you are only here for a short period of time, you may wish to use your account back home if at all possible.

Traveler’s checks
Traveler’s checks are an option to accessing money in The Netherlands. However, traveler’s checks are usually not accepted in stores and must be exchanged at a bank or cash bureau.

ATM/Debit cards
Cash machines are available throughout The Netherlands. Bring a U.S. ATM card with an international 4 digit pin number to access your checking account (not savings) overseas. Check with your bank prior to departure to make sure you will be able to access your funds from abroad with an ATM card.

Credit cards
While well-known international credit cards are widely accepted in the Netherlands, they may be inconvenient to use for everyday shopping. Visa and Master Card are the most commonly accepted credit cards.

Packing
Packing light is a good idea as most items you will need will be available for purchase in the Netherlands. Clothing and shoes are generally expensive to buy in the Netherlands. Students at the university are generally well-dressed; it is a good idea to bring one or two dressy outfits for formal occasions. Bringing enough clothes to layer is also a good idea. Some packing suggestions:
- four passport-size photographs for various forms
- gifts (for roommates, foreign friends)
- a warm scarf, hat, mittens/gloves
- waterproof jacket
- travel bag for shorter trips
- a large backpack if planning for extended travel
- Acceptance letter to Wageningen University as an exchange student
- Adaptor/converter (if you are bringing electrical devices)
- Copies of passport and other important documents

Travel and Arrival Information

When traveling to the Netherlands by plane, you are most likely to arrive at Schiphol Airport, near Amsterdam. At Schiphol railway station buy a single ticket to the train station Ede-Wageningen. Take a train to Duivendrecht. In Duivendrecht, change and take the train to Arnhem/Nijmegen and leave the train at Ede-Wageningen. At Ede-Wageningen, take the bus or a taxi to Wageningen. You can take Midnet Bus line 83 or 84 to Wageningen. You can buy your ticket on the bus.

Registering at the university

Once you arrive in Wageningen, you must register as an exchange student with the University. You can do this at the CSAdm. When you register, you will receive a collegekaart (registration card) or a letter stating that you are registered with the University. You must use your registration card or letter when registering for and taking exams or borrowing books from the university libraries. Before you return home to the U.S., you must return to the CSAdm to have your transcript sent to UW-Madison.

Orientation

For a small fee, students can participate in “Annual Introduction Days” (AID) for the week before classes start. During the week there are many activities planned that will allow students to quickly feel at home amongst fellow students and in the city itself. Every year about 95% of the future students participate in the AID. During this week students will be assigned to a group of 10 students and will be accompanied by two mentors. Students will visit all the activities with your group, socialize at the student societies and receive useful information about their study and the city of Wageningen.

Students will get to know the sports associations, student societies, the possibilities for recreational activities, classmates, the WUR and all that Wageningen has to offer. Besides study-related activities there are also other activities such as attending a music festival, a comedy night, a sports day, an open-air movie and a street festival. It is strongly recommended that future students in Wageningen participate in this great week.

Students must notify their exchange coordinator if they would like to have their accommodation available for AID.
The Academic Program
Wageningen University
Wageningen University originated in the 19th century at a time when Western Europe was experiencing an agricultural crisis. In the Netherlands, in addition to providing funds and economic support for agriculture, new laws provided for state-run agricultural schools. The first such school was opened in 1876 and since its inception Wageningen University has been orientated towards society and its problems. The first 45 years of agricultural education at Wageningen focused on agriculture, forestry and horticulture but now the University has widened its activities to include environmental control, nature conservation and related subjects. The research at Wageningen University takes its cue from relatively new scientific disciplines such as biotechnology, molecular biology and computer science. For many years, Wageningen scientists have been aware of the ultimate importance of maintaining a habitable planet Earth, as well as providing a reliable food supply for man and beast.

Today, Wageningen University is part of the Wageningen University and Research Centre, a consortium established in 1997. Around 5,000 students study at Wageningen.

The Exchange Program
This is an academic exchange program. Your primary contact will be The Central Student Administration (CSAdm) is located in the Main Building of Wageningen University which assists international students with university registration, visas, residence permits, financial matters, accommodations, registration for exams or courses, and more.

Classes
Wageningen University offers a wide variety of classes in the sciences. Starting from the second year, all courses are taught in English. As a Wageningen student, you can take courses in any of the University’s 17 Bachelor study programmes:
• Agricultural and Bioresource Engineering
• Management, Economics and Consumer Studies
• Biology
• Forest and Nature Conservation
• Organic Agriculture
• Biotechnology
• Soil, Water and Atmosphere
• Animal Science
• Economy and Policy
• Public Health and Society
• International Land and Water Management
• International Development Studies
• Landscape, Planning and Design
• Food Technology
• Environmental Sciences
• Molecular Sciences
• Plant Sciences
• Nutrition and Health

Class Schedules
At Wageningen University, the academic year, which runs from the beginning of September to August, is divided into five eight-week terms. Each eight-week term consists of three parts: six weeks for classroom teaching and practicals, one week for exam preparation, and one week for exams. The fifth term consists of nine weeks due to a greater number of public holidays that fall during that time of year; total lecture time is the same.

The academic calendar of Wageningen University has six periods. In period 1, 2, 5 and 6 you should choose up to 12 ECTS credits per period. Period 3 and 4 are two short periods in which you can choose up to 6 ECTS credits each.

Students studying in the fall typically take classes during periods 1 and 2. Students studying in the spring take classes during periods 3, 4, and 5. Please refer to the calendar below for academic calendar information.

Please visit http://www.wageningenur.nl/en/Education-Programmes/Study-Abroad-and-Exchange-Students/Show/Planning-Selection-of-courses.htm for more information on class schedules.

Exams
Most courses are graded based on written exams with multiple choice or open questions. Many practicals require you to write a short report. At least two weeks prior to taking your exams, you must register with the Central Student Administration, either at their desk or online. Students are given one week between the end of classes and exams to prepare for their exams. Re-examinations are given in August, at the end of the summer break.

Classes Available
Course offerings depend on the semester you are abroad. Generally, courses are only offered once a year.
A sampling of courses offered at Wageningen University:
• Ecology of Communities, Ecosystems & Landscapes
• Risks Associated with Foods
• Biology and Management of Plant Pathogens, Insects & Weeds
• Social Scientific Analysis of Environmental Issues
• Life History of Aquatic Organisms
• Land Degredation and Economic Development
• Greenhouse Technology
• Urban Infrastructure in Transition
• Globalization and Sustainability of Food Production & Consumption
• Water Delivery
• The Sociology of Farming & Rural Life
• Nutrition & Sports
• Genetic Improvement of Livestock
A more complete listing can be found on Wageningen University’s website: www.wur.nl (education > student information > study handbook, scheduling and csa online > study handbook). Click on the course number to determine if the class is taught in English and for a more detailed description of the class.

Language Courses
The Language Center (CENTA) offers a variety of courses for students and staff of Wageningen University. Tutored Dutch language courses are offered at various levels for international students. These courses are free of charge for registered Wageningen students.

Registration
Students will fill out a learning agreement as part of the application process. After the study program has been approved by Wageningen, students can register for their courses. To register student contact the lecturer (contact person) mentioned in the course description. Select the person and you will get the address & e-mail. Tell him or her that you are a new exchange student and that you are not able to register electronically yet. Add your full name, date of birth & selected courses (+ codes) to your message. You should register only for the courses you have selected for the first period of your study at Wageningen University. If you have already registered and decide to change your study-programme, do not forget to cancel the registration of the courses you are not going to attend. You can do this the same way you registered.

Students can select two courses per period. Two courses (12 ECTS) per period may not seem very much, but this is quite a considerable workload (42 hrs/week), including lectures and “practicals” (computer work), additional work in individual and group assignments, presentations, and preparation work (reading) for classes. Please note that in general you can follow one course during morning hours and one in the afternoon.

Equivalents and Course Equivalent Request (CER)
Each course you take abroad must be assigned a UW-Madison “equivalent” course in order for your grades and credits to be recorded on your UW-Madison transcript. In order to establish UW-Madison course equivalents for your study abroad courses, you will submit a Course Equivalent Request (CER). Detailed information on the UW course equivalent process is available in the IAP Study Abroad Handbook.

Credits
Conversions: In the Netherlands, an academic year consists of 60 ECTS credits. ECTS (European Credits Transfer System) credits are a numerical value (between 1 and 60) allocated to course units to describe the student workload required to complete them. They reflect the quantity of work each course unit requires in relation to the total quality of work necessary to complete a full year of academic study, that is, lectures, practical work, seminars, tutorials, field work, private study (in the library or at home) and examinations or other assessment activities. ECTS is thus based on a full student workload and not limited to contact hours only.

1 full academic year = 60 ECTS credit
1 semester = 30 ECTS credit
An average course consists of 200 study hours (classes, preparation, and exams are included), and thus equals 7.5 ECTS credit-points. In general, students at the university take 4 courses each semester.

Please be very careful when selecting courses. Note that courses offered may carry fewer than the 5 ECTS (equivalent to 3 UW credits). Courses must be worth at least 2.5 ECTS to be approved at UW. Courses under 2.5 ECTS should be combined with other courses of similar content to create a UW course equivalent. The combined courses should be at least 5 ECTS to provide meaningful credit.

For example: Systematic Botany (2 ECTS) and Practical course with Field Exercise in Systematic Botany (3 ECTS) = UW’s Botany 400 (3 UW credits).

It is possible to have courses approved as 2 UW credits instead of 3 UW credits. However, if you are taking courses to apply to major, certificate or college requirements, the ECTS must be equivalent to the UW courses credits. For example, Botany 130 is 5 credits at UW. If this course is needed for your major, certificate, or college requirement, you need to combine Wageningen courses to equal at least 9 ECTS. If you have any questions on course credit, please contact your IAP Study Abroad Advisor.

University Facilities
Libraries
The Wageningen UR Library is the national agricultural library in the Netherlands. The Library has become a leading center for and about agroproducton, soil, water and air management, and environmental issues. The university library system has about 29 different libraries throughout the campus, some with a wide variety of resources and others with department-oriented information sources.

Along with the library’s hard copies of books and other reference materials, electronic resources and inter-library loans from all over the world are available. Most campus libraries are typically open from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm Monday through Friday; you can check online for a specific library’s hours of operation: http://library.wur.nl. The Leeuwenborch Library has extra opening hours from October 1 to July 1, including evening and Saturday hours.

All libraries have printing and photocopying facilities for your use. You must purchase a card to use these services, which you can buy at any of the major libraries. Group and individual study areas are also available in the libraries. A maximum of 10 people can use the group study areas at one time, which are equipped with a PC and a white board. Call the library Helpdesk (0317-484440) to reserve a group study area. The libraries do not allow you to bring your coat or bag into the library. Lockers are available to store your things while you use the library. Library loans are free of charge, but don’t forget your card so you can check out books!

If you have any questions or need more information, contact the library Helpdesk at:
Tel: 0317-484440
Computer Facilities
Many computer facilities throughout campus are available for student use, including in libraries and faculty buildings. Check with building managers for times the computer facilities are open. As a Wageningen University student, you will have access to internet, email and other programs on any of the university’s computers.

Once you are registered as a student, the Central Student Administration (CSA) will provide you with a CSA internet account. This account gives access to the CSA website and can be used to register for exams and to obtain information about registration for classes and grades. Details on how to activate your account will be sent to your personal email. The CSA website also gives access to a WURnet account, enabling you to gain access to your own emailbox as well as to your own work area for writing/editing/saving files. More information about your WURnet account can be found on the CSA site: www.wur.nl.

Cafeteria
At most student flats or houses, students take turns preparing group dinners. There are several supermarkets, specialized food shops, and open air markets near the university where you can buy food. Costs are shared by the participants. A mensa is another option for lunch or dinner. A mensa is an inexpensive food stand run by a student club (SSR, KSV, Ceres and Unitas; see section on student organizations). The mensae are located in the organization’s building and serve both vegetarian and meat dishes.

Living Abroad
Netherlands
The Netherlands is a small country; it is only about 200 km wide from east to west and 300 km long from north to south. The Netherlands, bordered by Belgium in the south and Germany in the east, is a flat country that lies in the marshy delta of the Rhine River, one of Europe’s largest rivers. The water from the river and the North Sea, which borders the Netherlands in the north and west, enhances agricultural production through fertile sediment deposits and also devastates society through floods. To solve this problem, the Dutch have built an extensive network of dikes and mounds, which are particularly important in those areas of the country that lie below sea level. Due to its proximity to the sea, the Netherlands enjoys a temperate marine climate with cool summers and mild winters. Excessively hot days are rare in the summer and snow is only a possibility in the winter; temperatures do not fluctuate much within a given day or throughout the year. Average temperatures vary between 2 degrees Celsius/36 degrees Fahrenheit in January to 17 degrees Celsius/63 degrees Fahrenheit in July. Rain is prevalent year round. Due to the country’s flatness, the Netherlands tends to be a rather windy place at all times of the year.

The Netherlands is run under a constitutional monarchy. The Monarchy, which is hereditary, is the Chief of State. The Prime Minister, appointed by the Monarch, is the Head of Government. The Netherlands is divided into 12 administrative provinces. Amsterdam is the nation’s capital while The Hague is the seat of government.
The Netherlands has a prosperous and open economy, which depends heavily on foreign trade. Although economic growth fell in the period 2001-2004, with the global economic slowdown, prior to this period, the Netherlands’ economic growth rate averaged well over 4%, well above the EU average.

The population of the small country is roughly 16.5 million people, making the Netherlands one of the most densely populated areas in the world. The population is growing at less than 1% per year. Ethnically, about 83% of the population is Dutch and 9% of the population is of non-Western origin. Dutch and Frisian are the two official languages, and English is widely spoken as a second language.

Traditionally, the Dutch eat two cold meals (breakfast and lunch) and one hot meal (dinner) every day. The main component of breakfast and lunch is bread. Dinner usually consists of meat or fish accompanied by potatoes and vegetables, followed by dessert. Potatoes may be replaced with rice, pulses or pasta. The Dutch also consume a large amount of dairy products and enjoy a coffee or tea break in the morning and afternoon. Also, the water from the tap is safe to drink.

The Dutch typically eat early, so some restaurants might close earlier than you would expect. In the Netherlands, going out to eat can be an activity in itself. As a result, meals out are very leisurely. Servers respect this and do not interrupt you. Therefore, you should always ask for your bill when you want it.

The majority of the population who practice a religion in the Netherlands practice Roman Catholicism (31%). The second most common religion is Dutch Reformed, representing 13% of the population. Other religions practiced in the Netherlands include Calvinism, Islam and more. Many Dutch, 41%, are not members of a church.

Wageningen

Wageningen is a municipality and a historical town in the central Netherlands, in the province of Gelderland and it is often described as “small and cozy but with the allure of a big city.” It is famous for Wageningen University, which specializes in life sciences. The city has 34,348 inhabitants (as of January 1, 2006), of which many thousands are students. The university and associated institutes, now consolidated in Wageningen University and Research Center (WUR), employs about 7400 people. Wageningen also is the central city in Food Valley. Food Valley is the Dutch food & nutrition cluster concentrated around WUR and comprised of many institutes, companies and state-of-the-art facilities in the food & nutrition field. Food Valley is regarded as the largest food & nutrition Research & Development clusters in the world.

Wageningen is situated on the north bank of the Lower Rhine, ("Nederrijn" in Dutch) and at the border between the Gelderse valley and the Veluwe, of which the southwest hill is called the Wageningse berg. Wageningen can be reached by car from highways A12, A15 and A50, and from railroad station Ede-Wageningen where a 15 minute bus drive connects to the central bus station in the town center.
Wageningen is also world famous for its military history. On May 5, 1945, the German general Blaskowitz surrendered to the Canadian general Charles Foulkes, which officially ended the Second World War in the Netherlands. On May 5, which in the Netherlands is Liberation Day, the city hosts a large festival to celebrate the liberation. At this festival, veteran soldiers parade through the city and are honored for their service. Wageningen is home to the Technical Centre for Agricultural and Rural Cooperation ACP-EU (CTA).

Housing
Housing for exchange students is coordinated by the student housing office in the Student Service Centre for all international students. As an exchange student, you have a bed guarantee. Your Wageningen exchange coordinator nominates you for housing. You will live in a single room and share bathroom and kitchen facilities with both Dutch and other international students.

http://wageningenur.nl/en/Education-Programmes/Student-Service-Centre/Housing/Contact-Student-Housing.htm

Rooms for international students are furnished with a bed, mattress, desk, chair, wardrobe, a small safe, a bedcover, a pillow and a sheet. Your room will also have an internet connection. The rooms in the apartment buildings are divided into groups (“corridors”) of six to eighteen rooms. Each corridor has a common room with a TV and kitchen facilities. Students often cook together. You can use the common shared kitchen dishes, pans and utensils so that you do not have to provide your own. The buildings also have a washing machine and shared telephone.

Rent depends on the type of room. You can rent a room beginning either the 1st or the 16th of each month. You will receive the address about two weeks before your actual rental date. If you choose to cancel your room early, you must inform Wageningen at least one month in advance. Like start dates, cancel dates can also be either the 1st or 16th of the month. You can pick up your keys at the housing office on the 1st/16th of the month that your rental contract begins. Check hours as times can be quite limited. If the 1st/16th is a Saturday or Sunday, the housing office is closed and you can get your key on any following work day between 9:00 am and 4:00 pm (office hours). You can also pick up your key during office hours any work day after the start of your rental agreement.

Most student housing is in close proximity to campus so students can walk to and from the university. Biking is also a convenient way to get around campus and the city.

Student Life
Joining a club or student organization while abroad is a great way to meet people with similar interests, become involved in the university, and learn more about the local culture. Here are some of the student organizations you could join while studying at Wageningen:

Study Associations:
- Codon (Biotechnology)
- Di-Et-Tri (Nutrition and Health)
- Heeren XVII (Agrotechnology)
- Mercurius (Management, Economics, and Consumer Studies)
- Nicolus Appert (Food Technology)
• Nitocra (International Land and Water Management)
• Semper Florens (Plant Science)
• De Veetelers (Animal Science)
• WSBS Sylvatica (Forest and Nature Conservation) Student Associations:
  • Unitas
  • International Student Organization Wageningen
  • International Student Panel
  • Wageningen Student Choir and Orchestra

Sport Centre de Bongerd (USB)
Sport Centre de Bongerd (USB) is Wageningen University’s multi-functional sport centre with both indoor and outdoor facilities. USB facilities include a track, gymnasium, climbing wall, four squash courts, six tennis courts, four outdoor fields, and a fitness room. The Sport Centre is open seven days a week.

As a student, you can also participate in the Sport and Movement programme, which offers 31 sport activities and provides specialized instruction in a wide range of sports. The Sport and Movement programme also offers unique sports such as aerobics, aqua fit, fitness, squash, Tai Bo and inline skating. To use the USB or participate in the Sport and Movement Programme, you must have a valid sports card. This card also allows you to use the swimming pool and join one of the university’s 17 student sports clubs. The sports card can be purchased at the USB Monday through Friday between 9:00 am and 11:00 pm. For more information about the USB or the Sports Movement programme, visit www.wur.nl/usb.

Transportation
Bus
Buses run regularly from Wageningen bus station to nearby towns such as Ede, Arnhem, and The Netherlands. Tickets can be bought on the bus. If you use the bus often, however, it is much cheaper to buy a “strippenkaart” (a multiple-use ticket). A strippenkaart can be bought at the bus station, tourist information office, post office and most supermarkets. The country is divided into zones and the strippenkaart is stamped according to the distance travelled. The card is valid throughout the country and also on trams and metro.

Train
Although the Netherlands has an extensive railway network with regular train services, Wageningen has no railway station. The nearest stations are Ede-Wageningen and Rhenen. Both of these stations can be reached by bus from the Wageningen bus station. Information about tickets and special arrangements at reduced prices (weekend return ticket deals, off-peak discount pass, RailPlus) and about departure/arrival times may be found at the railway stations or online at www.ns.nl.

For national train transportation, a Voordeelurenkaart can be purchased at any time and is valid for one year. This card provides a 40% discount (watch for time constraints with the card – typically you can’t use it before 9 am on weekdays) anywhere nationally. If you plan to travel by train a great deal within the Netherlands, this card is highly recommended. You will need 1 passport photo and the cards costs 50-55 euros.

Bicycle
Student housing is relatively close to campus and can easily be reached by bicycle. You can buy a new or used bike at several shops or through advertisements in the newspapers. You may wish to bring a Kryptonite lock (or U lock) from the United States, as they are more expensive in the Netherlands. Though you will see fewer bicyclists wearing helmets, Dutch law requires that your bike have a working light for night riding. Bring your helmet from home if you are planning on biking. Some of the bicycle shops in Wageningen include:

• Profile Pro Wageningen De Fietsspecialist, Churchillweg 27
• Recycle Rijwielhandel, Heerenstraat 37/39
• Wetering B.V. Rijwielhandel B.V., Harnjesweg 86
• Breet Bikes, Bevrijdingsstraat 24

Don’t forget to lock your bike with a good lock!

Taxi
Travel by taxi is expensive. The following are the names and telephone numbers of some Wageningen taxi companies:

• Buurman: 0317-411111
• Taxi Rewa: 0317-460000
• E. Meurs: 0317-412345
• A. Leewis: 0317-413050

Health and Safety
According to the U.S. State Department Travel Information on The Netherlands, "The Netherlands has a low crime rate." Crimes of property, however, do occur. Students should be particularly aware of keeping their bikes locked at all times. Violent crime is much less common in the Netherlands than in the U.S. Remember to take care of personal belongings in crowded surroundings such as buses during rush hour, markets, etc.

Emergency Numbers
General Emergencies (Police, Ambulance, Fire Brigade): 112
Fire Brigade (non-urgent): 0317-412237
Police (non-urgent): 0900-8844
VU Medisch Centrum: 020-4444444

Communications
When making calls, keep in mind time zone differences (www.timeanddate.com/worldclock). To make an international call to the United States, dial the access code for the country from which you are calling plus the United States country code (always “1”) followed by the appropriate U.S. area code and local number.
To call internationally from the United States, dial “011”, the country code, city access code (if necessary) and the phone number. Country and city codes can be found online (www.timeanddate.com/worldclock/dialing.html). Some of above steps can vary if you are using a calling card.

Calling to the Netherlands
International access code: 011
Country code: 31
Wageningen city code: (0)317

To call the Netherlands from the United States, your family and friends must dial the international access code, followed by the country code and Wageningen’s city code, and finally your phone number: 011 + 31 + 317 + telephone number

Calling from the Netherlands
International access code: 00
Country code: 1

To call the United States from the Netherlands, you will need to dial the international access code, the United States’ country code, the area code and phone number: 00 + 1 + area code + telephone number.

Calling within the Netherlands
Please note that when you make calls within the Netherlands you must include a 0 before the city code: 0317 + telephone number. However, the 0 is dropped when friends and family make international calls to the Netherlands, as shown in B above.

Mobile Phones
Mobile phones are part of day-to-day life in the Netherlands. If you decide you want a mobile while studying in the Netherlands, you do not have to sign a contract and commit to a certain length of time like people generally do here. Prepaid phone plans are available, so you can add money/minutes to your phone as you use it. There are five major mobile phone providers in the Netherlands: KPN, Vodafone, Telfort, Orange, and T-Mobile. Rates vary depending on the time of day you are calling, whether you call a land-line or mobile phone and whether or not you call a mobile with the same provider as your own. If you choose to get a mobile phone, be sure to ask local people about the different providers so you can choose the provider that best fits your needs.

Internet
As previously mentioned, internet is available to students on campus. Off campus, internet cafes are abundant in Wageningen and throughout the Netherlands. Prices vary in internet cafes but can be as low as €1 per hour. An internet connection may also be available in your accommodation but it depends on where you live.

Post Office
Post offices in the Netherlands offer more services than just postal services. In addition to buying stamps and mailing letters or packages you can also exchange money, make long-distance phone calls, do your banking or visit a travel agency at the post office. There is one postal delivery each day, except Sundays and public holidays. The Main Post Office is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 am to 6:00 pm and Saturday from 9:00 am to 1:30 pm.

Skype

Skype is a convenient and inexpensive way to keep in touch with your friends and family at home. Skype is a free program you can download from the internet (www.skype.com) and use to call people anywhere around the world. To use Skype, all you need is access to a computer with internet and a headset (any sort of microphone and speakers combination). If the person you are talking to also has Skype, talking to each other over Skype is free. You can also use the program to call landline phones or cell phones for a very small fee per minute.

Travel guides & other books about the Netherlands

Learn as much as you can about the Netherlands before you leave. Travel guides are helpful for providing background information on the Netherlands’ history, geography, politics, and culture as well as for assisting you if you travel to other regions of the country. Novels also provide a glimpse into Dutch history, landscape, and way of life.
