Tours, France Summer 2015
IAP Program Handbook

This program is offered by International Academic Programs (IAP) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison in partnership with the Institut de Touraine. Throughout the course of your study abroad experience you will be communicating with both IAP and the Institut de Touraine staff. It is essential that you pay close attention to all information provided to you from both organizations. This IAP Program Handbook supplements handbook(s) or materials you receive from the Institut de Touraine as well as the IAP Study Abroad Handbook and provides you with the most up-to-date information and advice available at the time of printing. Changes may occur before your departure or while you are abroad.

The Institut de Touraine handles the program’s day-to-day operations. Generally, questions about aspects of your program abroad should be directed to the Institut de Touraine (ie. housing information, program facilities abroad, extracurricular activities offered as part of the program, etc.) Questions relating to your relationship with UW-Madison or your academics should be addressed to International Academic Programs at UW-Madison (ie. course credits, equivalents, UW Madison registration, etc.)

Program Dates
Session 1: May 25 – June 19, 2015
Session 2: June 29 – July 24, 2015
Session 3: July 27 – August 21, 2015
*Student can combine up to two sessions at the institute (so Session 1 and 2 or 2 and 3).

Please note that the first day listed is the day you will need to arrive at the Institute to start orientation. Most students will arrive in Tours the day before to settle into their housing.

Arrival
Watch for additional arrival information from the Institut de Touraine. Students should plan on checking in at the Institut de Touraine on the first day of their program at 8:45 a.m. (i.e. May 25th for the first session, June 29th for the second session, July 27th for the third session). If you’ve completed the on-line placement test (which is e-mailed to you), you will just need to have an interview with one of the professors. If you are not able to complete the on-line placement test, you will need to take it that morning. Your housing will typically be available the day before the first program date but you will want to confirm this once you receive your housing placement.
You will want to be sure to share your arrival information with the institute so that your housing placement is aware of your arrival and they can communicate a plan with you about your arrival.

Preparations Before Leaving

Immigration Documents

Passport

A passport is needed to travel to France. Apply immediately for a passport if you do not already have one. Passport information and application forms can be found on the U.S. State Department website (http://travel.state.gov/content/passports/english/passports/apply.html). If you already have your passport, make sure it will be valid for at least six months beyond the length of your stay abroad.

Visa

No Visa is required for U.S. citizens for programs less than 90 days in France. Non-U.S. Citizens should email their Study Abroad Advisor for instructions on how to determine if they will need to apply for a French visa.

Handling Money Abroad

The currency in France is in Euros. For the latest currency exchange rate, visit http://www.oanda.com/currency/ converter/. Detailed information on handling money abroad is available in the IAP Study Abroad Handbook. If you choose to obtain Euros before leaving for France (which is recommended), ask for smaller denominations if possible. It can be difficult at times for vendors to break larger bills.

Packing

All manner of clothing is possible in France, within the limits of decency and good taste. Please be aware that on average the French people dress ‘much nicer than US students’. Sweats and hooded sweatshirts are not worn unless exercising and locals shy away from shorts even in the summer. As always, a sweater and good walking shoes are advisable. Keep in mind that you will blend into the culture better by partaking in their traditions.

Electronics

French electricity runs on 220 volts, while US runs on 110 volts. Their outlet design is also different from the ones used in the US. If you choose to bring appliances, make sure that you bring an appropriate adapter. Remember that small appliances can be purchased in France and kept for return trips. One always runs the risk of ruining an appliance when switching current and most adapters are rather bulky.

Travel and Arrival Information

Students are responsible for making their own travel arrangements to Tours. Students will most likely fly into either Charles de Gaulle or Orly Airport in Paris and then will need to take the train to Tours.

To get to Tours from Paris by train
Departure from Paris Montparnasse train station: High speed train (TGV) to Saint-Pierre-des-Corps or Tours.
Duration of the journey: about one hour.
Subway station for Paris Montparnasse is called Montparnasse Bienvenüe.
Price for a one-way-ticket: between 45 and 60 Euros depending on date and time.
Number of trains a day: about 13

Departure from Paris Austerlitz train station: normal train to Tours Centre.
Duration of the journey: 2h15.
Subway station for Paris Austerlitz is called Gare d'Austerlitz.
Price for a one-way-ticket: about 25 Euros.
Number of trains a day: about 14

Departure from the airport Charles de Gaulle
Several possibilities to get to Tours
* By train: Direct TGV connecting Airport CDG2 train station to Saint Pierre des Corps. Duration of the journey: about 2h00. Price for a one-way-ticket: about 60 Euros. Number of trains a day: about 5
* By small bus for groups of 5 to 10 persons.
* By taxi – about 350 Euros

Please contact the Institut de Touraine to get more information about small busses or taxis.

For all information about the train departures, go to the homepage www.voyages-sncf.com
Useful information for using trains in France: All trains will have a designated platform or voie from which they will depart. It is helpful to know that the voie will most likely not be displayed until 15-20 prior to the departure of the train.

Train voyages with assigned seats, such as on the high-speed TGV trains, will also have an assigned car, or voiture. These may be difficult to find the first time using the French train system: look for small rectangular screens next to the door indicating the car number, and find your seat number within.

Your arrival at Tours
There are two train stations in Tours: one in Tours Centre and one in Saint-Pierre-des-Corps, 3km away from the city centre. Be careful, most of the TGVs stop at Saint Pierre des Corps and not at Tours Centre. Please check your ticket before leaving! For trains which stop at Saint-Pierre-des-Corps, you have to get off at this station and then to take a shuttle train to Tours Centre. Usually the shuttle leaves on the opposite platform.

For more information and to book trains in France, students can refer to the SNCF web site: http://www.sncf.com/en_EN/flash/

The Academic Program

General Information
The Institut de Touraine is located in Tours, France which is located in the Indre-et-Loire region. Tours houses 142,000 French natives and is known for wine making, the cycling event Paris-Tours, and their pure accent. The Institut de Touraine has been teaching French culture and language to students, adults, and professors since 1912. Since that time 80,000 students have profited from the cultural immersion and quality teaching in which the Institut prides itself. Each year students from over 80 different countries share their experiences and culture with one another during their time at the Institut.

Course Information
Courses
Summer courses (June to September) are organized in 9 levels, from total beginner to advanced. This ensures students who stay several months can continuously progress, moving up levels at the end of the month.

TYPICALY DAY SCHEDULE
Courses are typically divided between two teachers during the day, with a class dedicated to reading and writing in French, French expression and comprehension, a phonetics course lasting 2 hours each week, and an optional elective. Below is the typical class schedule. Schedules vary from student to student - some do not have a class during each period everyday; there is day-to-day variation. There are often no classes Wednesday afternoons for students.

  9:15am Class
  10:00am Class
  11:00am Coffee break
  11:15am Class
  Lunch Break
  2:30pm Class
  3:45pm Class

Equivalents and Course Equivalent Request (CER)
Each course you take abroad must be assigned a UW-Madison “equivalent” and the grade you receive in the course also transfers back to be recorded on your UW-Madison transcript. In order to establish UW-Madison course equivalents for your study abroad courses, you will submit a Course Equivalent Request (CER) through your My Study Abroad account. Detailed information on the UW course equivalent process that you will use through your My Study Abroad account is available in the IAP Study Abroad Handbook and in your My Study Abroad account under the academics tab. For this program, you course equivalents are set based on what level of French you have most recently taken. More information is found below.

Registration
IAP will register you for a special “Study Abroad Course” for the term(s) you will be studying abroad; therefore, it is not necessary for you to register on the UW-Madison campus. This is a temporary registration, which will be converted into graded UW-Madison credit after the completion of your program.

Credits
Conversions
During the intensive four-week course, students will have 20 hours of class per week with 15 hours of general French (oral and written), 2 hours of phonetics (half class), and 3 hours of an optional course. Optional courses include: linguistic support, French culture and literature, specialist French, depending on the level of French. Students will not receive separate credit for the 3-hours optional courses.

Students will receive 4-credits of language sequence credit and 2-credits of content credit per session. French content credit will transfer as French 299* or French 449 (for more advanced students). Students who participate in two summer sessions will earn 12 credits.

Limits and Load

Students will earn 6 UW-Madison credits for each session of the summer program. Students who participate in both summer sessions will earn 12 credits.

Pass/Fail/Drop/Audit

Please refer to the IAP Study Abroad Handbook for Academic Policies. You can declare a course as pass/fail in the Academics tab of your My Study Abroad account. You will also find the deadline for declaring pass/fail under the same tab.

Living Abroad

Educate yourself about your host country. Remember it won't be possible to prepare yourself completely. There will be situations you will not have anticipated and your flexibility will determine in great part the kind of experience you will have while abroad.

Housing

Please be aware that payment for housing is expected upon arrival, although it may be accepted on the second day. The Institut de Touraine can book any type of accommodation for you on request, although it ultimately depends on what is available during the time that you are in Tours. It is possible that not all options will always be available.

There may be other options. The availability of all options varies from summer to summer so you should sign up for your housing as soon as you are ready to do so. You can email the Institute/Bernice directly with questions you have about housing.

If you select to stay with a host family, you will receive your host family's information in an email from the institute prior to departure. You may at that time contact the family to organize a time to meet once you arrive in Tours.
If you select another housing option, you will work with Beatrice to confirm your arrival. She will then provide instructions on how you will check into your accommodations.

Meals
With host families, all meals but lunch during weekdays will be offered.

There is a caféteria at the Institut, meaning a coffee and vending machine. There are, however several nearby places for lunch, of all price ranges. Les Halles, the daily indoor market, has multiple stands for lunch items and snacks, and is a short distance away from the Institut. Another inexpensive option for lunch during June, when French university students still have classes, is the caféteria at the university (40 rue des Tanneurs). For less than €5 you will get a decently large amount of food. The Institut will be able to provide directions.

Excursions
In the summer there is generally one larger excursion each Saturday, often to destinations farther away from Tours such as Mont Saint Michel or Paris. There are also excursions on Wednesday afternoons to sites of interest closer-by, almost always the châteaux of the Loire Valley. Registration for excursions starts during the first week of each monthly session, and are ongoing until they are full. Prices range up to €60 for the destinations that are farther away. Be aware that some American universities that go to the Institut reserve places for the entire group at one time, often filling up all remaining spaces on the excursions quickly. It is best to reserve a place as early as possible.

The institute also provides cultural activities nearly everyday of the week that are free or very low-cost, usually within Tours. Such activities include wine/cheese tasting, picnics, kayaking, and more.

Communications
When making calls, keep in mind time zone differences (www.timeanddate.com/worldclock). To make an international call to the United States, dial the access code for the country from which you are calling plus the United States country code (always “1”) followed by the appropriate U.S. area code and local number. To call internationally from the United States, dial “011”, the country code, city access code (if necessary) and the phone number. Country and city codes can be found online (www.timeanddate.com/worldclock/dialing.html). Some of above steps can vary if you are using a calling card.

Past Participant Tips
“There are so many fun restaurants in Tours, and of course lost of places to eat galettes and crêpes, but one of my favorites is the first one I ate at. On the first day, the teachers at the Institut gave us a walking tour of the city, and at the end we asked for a restaurant recommendation for lunch. She recommended a crêperie called Mamie Bigoude, right in the center of town. It’s a cute and quirky restaurant with creative and delicious galettes and crepes. The inside is made to look like a house – you can sit in a living room, bathroom, bedroom, or even the closet. I even brought my parents there when they came to visit!” - Jenny

One of the great things about studying abroad is this amazing opportunity you have to practice your language skills with native speakers! Trust me, it’ll be a very different experience from sitting in your college classroom, repeating dialogues with the professor. So, speak as often to as many native speakers as possible. Don’t worry about making mistakes; you’re there to learn! It can be easy to stray back to speaking English, but if you keep working at it, you’ll find your conversational skills will definitely improve.” - Elizabeth
