The Athens, Greece study abroad program is offered by International Academic Programs (IAP) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. This IAP Program Handbook supplements materials you receive from IAP as well as the IAP Study Abroad Handbook and provides you with the most up-to-date information and advice available at the time of printing. Changes may occur before your departure or while you are abroad.

Questions about your program abroad (housing options, facilities abroad, academics, etc.) should be directed to International Academic Programs at UW-Madison.

*Please plan on arriving at the Athens airport no later than 2pm on May 31st. Specific details regarding arrival can be found below in the “Travel and Arrival” section.
Preparation Before Leaving
Refer to the Pre-Departure Checklist on pages four and five of the general IAP Study Abroad Handbook for essential information.

Immigration Documents
Passport
A passport is needed to travel to Greece. Apply immediately for a passport if you do not already have one. Passport information and application forms can be found on the U.S. State Department website (http://travel.state.gov/passport). If you already have your passport, make sure it will be valid for at least 6 months beyond the length of your stay abroad.

Visa
No visa is required for U.S. passport holders for stays less than 3 months. Students from other countries should consult with the Greek Embassy regarding visa requirements.

Handling Money Abroad
The currency in Greece is in Euros. As of February 2010, the exchange rate is 1 EURO = 1.40. For the latest currency exchange rate, visit www.x-rates.com.

Banks
Banks in Athens are typically open Monday to Friday from 8:00am to 1:30pm. The National Bank of Greece has branches in Syntagma Square and in Omonia Square. The latter is open later and has some weekend hours. The Main office of American Express is at Ermou St. 2 in Syntagma.

Credit Cards
Most hotels and restaurants, retail stores, jewelry stores, etc. accept the American Express, Master Card, Visa, and Diners cards. You may withdraw cash 24 hours a day from your personal account in the US in most ATM machines (check for the sign to make sure that the bank accepts Visa, American Express or MasterCard transactions).

Packing
All manner of clothing is possible in Greece, within the limits of decency and good taste. You are expected to dress in a respectable manner when visiting churches and monasteries. In order to enter a church, women are expected to wear skirts that fall below their knees and at minimum, shirts that cover their shoulders. Men should likewise wear pants and sleeved shirts. You will see tourists entering churches with far less clothing than is required, but it can be considered offensive.

Light casual clothing is the best defense against Greece’s intense summer heat, lightweight hat is recommended. Cottons and linens are far preferable to synthetics. Skirts, sleeveless dresses, slacks, long shorts and T-shirts are acceptable in any but the most formal situation. Men may want a short sleeve dress shirt and summer sport coat for the fanciest resort restaurants. Although topless and nude sun bathing are common on remote beaches you must cover up when swimming near towns or religious buildings. Bring a light sweater, wind-breaker, or light jacket for unexpected night ferries. Remember to bring comfortable walking shoes.

Electronics
The standard in Greece is 220V AC (50Hz). With the difference in voltage, we recommend that you avoid taking U.S. electrical appliances. If you do, pack an adapter together with your electrical appliance, so that you do not have to spend valuable time looking for adapters and transformers during your stay.

Photography
Cameras, accessories and film are readily available, but are rather expensive in Greece. Be advised that you will have to pay a charge for photographs taken with flash and video cameras inside the museums.

Health
No immunizations necessary for Greece. Tap water is safe to drink, milk is pasteurized, health services are good. One can obtain a list of English-speaking doctors before departure from the International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers (IAMAT) at 417 Center St., Lewiston, NY 14092, telephone: (716) 754-4883. For such conditions as epilepsy, diabetes, heart condition; please wear a Medic Alert ID tag. Contact Medic Alert Foundation in Turlock, CA 95381, telephone: (800) 432-5378 for further information.

Travel and Arrival Information
You are responsible for making your own travel arrangements, which includes arranging flights that will allow for appropriate arrival time before the course start date. You may wish to arrange flights with other students on the program or fly to Athens on your own.

Arrival Directions
Athens' International Airport, Eleftherios Venizelos (www.aia.gr) has all the amenities of a large airport including a hotel, post office, courier service, banks, currency exchanges, ATM's, as well as many stores and restaurants. The airport is 27 kilometers (17 miles) southeast of Athens and is accessible by car, taxi, metro, and bus.

*Please plan on arriving in Athens no later than 2pm on May 31st. At the airport, there is a designated meeting area (signs will instruct you where to go) located between arrival terminals A and B. Students will be expected to meet at this meeting point at 2pm. The group will then board a bus for Nauplion, arriving in the late afternoon.

The Academic Program
General Information
This program examines the literature, society, monuments, artifacts, and culture of classical Athens and other regions of Greece. Study will include examination of archaeological remains, literary texts, and modern scholarship. We will explore the defining characteristics of the Athenian city-state (polis) and the contribution of ancient Greece to the Western intellectual and political tradition. Topics of discussion will include topography, architecture, religion, democracy, war, imperialism, tragedy, and art. We will also examine questions of identity in the ancient world, the role of women in ancient Greek society, and the conceptions of myth and the divine. We will also take several trips outside of Athens in order to experience the Greek countryside and other sites that are important for understanding all eras of Greek history.
You must bring your college student ID card with you to Greece. Students with International Student Cards or student IDs receive a fifty (50%) reduction to most sites and museums. On first Sunday of the month, sites and museums are FREE of charge (except guided tours).

Course Information
Class will convene regularly in classroom space provided by our hotels. The lectures and discussions will be complemented by numerous trips to monuments and museums in Athens and throughout central and southern Greece, including a four-day excursion to the Peloponnese region. Each student will be required to give a short presentation about a monument, artifact or event at one of the sites we visit. There will also be regular reading assignments. Quizzes and the final exam will be based on assigned readings, as well as on information provided on fieldtrips.

This course cannot be taken for Pass/Fail. Upon successful completion of the course, students will earn 3 credits of Classics 371: Topics in Greek Culture.

Itinerary
Note: A schedule of student presentations, class topics, and reading assignments, along with a list of required books and the grading criteria, will be distributed before we leave for Athens.

Living Abroad

Greece is located in southeastern Europe, situated on the southern end of the Balkan Peninsula. It is bordered by Bulgaria, the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia and Albania to the north, and by Turkey to the east. The Aegean Sea lies to the east and south of mainland Greece, while the Ionian Sea lies to the west. It is heir to the heritages of classical Greece, the Byzantine Empire, and nearly four centuries of Ottoman rule. Regarded as the cradle of western civilization and being the birthplace of democracy, Western philosophy, the Olympic Games, western literature, political science, major scientific principles and drama, Greece has a particularly long and eventful history and a cultural heritage considerably influential in Europe, Northern Africa and the Middle East. Today, Greece is a developed country, a member of the European Union since 1981 and a member of the Economic and Monetary Union of the European Union since 2001. Athens, Thessaloniki, Piraeus, and Patra are the country’s major cities. (Information in this paragraph adapted from http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Greece).

Athens

By the fifth century B.C., Athens had become one of the most popular tourist attractions of Greece with its magnificent temples and monuments, festivals and theatrical performances, and its ports and streets crowded with merchants. Today, Athens is the political capital of modern Greece and offers visitors the opportunity to explore its immense heritage that has had an impact on all modern disciplines from art and drama to philosophy and history. Athens houses some of the most famous ancient Greek sculpture and pottery in the National Archaeological Museum and some of the most remarkable ancient Greek architecture, such as the Parthenon and Erechtheion on the Acropolis, the Theater of Dionysus, the Temple of Hephaestus in the Agora, and the Temple of Poseidon at Sounion.

Housing
Participants will be staying at the Hotel Rex (May 31 - June 2), Hotel Europa (June 2-3), and Hotel Achilleas (June 3-18). Please find contact information for each hotel below:

Hotel Rex is located on the Northeastern side of the Argolic Gulf, under the shadow of the tall and steep hill of Palamidi, in the historical town of Nauplion. Rooms are equipped with a bathroom, telephone, TV, mini-bar, and air conditioning. The hotel features dining halls, a café, and bar.

Hotel Europa is built on the top of Drouvas Hill in Ancient Olympia. All rooms are air-conditioned, have satellite TV, music, refrigerator, a safe, direct dial phone, balcony, and marble bathroom. Wireless internet is available along with a business office, complete with a printer and scanner. Hotel Europa also features a restaurant, tavern, and bar.

Hotel Achilleas is located close to Syntagama Square in the center of Athens. The hotel features spacious rooms all equipped with satellite TV, A/C, mini-fridges, safe deposit box, electronic card key system, telephone, and hair dryer. Towels and linens are provided.

NOTE: A tip of 1 to 2 Euros for housekeeping and porters in hotels is suggested. Tips for guide/tour-escort are $2-3 per day, and $2-3 per day for the driver of your coach.

Meals
Your hotel will provide complimentary buffet breakfasts at the hotel restaurant for participants. Lunches and dinners may be purchased at the large variety of taverns, cafeterias, and restaurants.

Local dishes are the best at the taverns. Some recommended dishes to try include: astakos (grilled lobster, available mostly on the island, cost: 80 Euro per kilo), barbounia (grilled red mullet), garedes (prawns), kalamareka (squids), oktapode (octopus), moussaka (eggplant dish), dolmadakia (stuffed vine leaves with minced meat and rice), paidakia (grilled lamb chops), gyro, souvlaki, spanakopita (spinach pie with feta cheese), Greek salad with tomatoes, cucumbers and feta, stuffed tomatoes and peppers, pastichio (pasta dish) and the traditional kebab.

Greeks typically eat dinner later than Americans do, and some restaurants may not open until 9pm. Tipping is also known as a "service charge", and is included on your bill in Greece. If you feel that the food or service was particularly good, then it is common to leave a small amount more. (Information adapted from http://www.travelswithfriends.com/Travel_Tips-Eating_In_Greece.htm)

Water
Tap water is drinkable, but you may also order a bottle of non-carbonated mineral water. If you like carbonated water, you should ask for it as “soda.”

Shopping

Hand-woven Greek textiles embroidered blouses, earthenware and silverware, leather goods such as backpacks, bags, jewelry, copper, bronze, and antiques can be found everywhere, in the old town of Plaka, in Monastiraki (flea market) but especially SHOULD BE AVOIDED on Sunday.

Best streets for museum copies, less expensive jewellery and modern Greek ceramics are in Plaka in Voulis Street, Kidathineon Street (“Vergina Gallery”). For European Casuals, Italian sportswear, designer wear shop, go to Kolonaki in the area between Solonos and Anagnostopoulou Street, Omirou, Iraikitou & Skoufa Street. Best items are those, which are uniquely Greek Folk art, handicrafts, copies of Ancient jewelry/ceramics, as well as “flocati rugs”, cotton embroideries.

Museum Information

Museums and sites in Athens (Acropolis), Delphi, Crete, Mycenae and Epidaurus are open in the summer until 6:30-7:00 pm. Most museums are CLOSED on Mondays but schedules might vary.

Transportation

Public Transportation in Athens

Public Transport network in Athens consists of buses, trolley buses, trams, and the METRO. Tickets for all means of transport in Athens, cost the same, 1 Euro can be used throughout the network for the duration of 1 ½ hours. Tickets may be purchased at kiosks around Athens and at the metro stops. Ticket should be validated. A 24-hour ticket and monthly card can be purchased at O.A.S.A and METRO booths as well.

The METRO from Athens International Airport to Athens center locations costs 6 Euros. (www.amel.gr)

The express bus from Athens International Airport to Athens locations (Syntagma Square) costs 3,20 Euros. (www.oasa.gr)

Taxis
Taxis are reasonably cheap and sometimes the quickest and easiest way to get around. Athens' taxis are yellow and the taxis outside the Attica area are gray. Always look to see if the driver has turned on the meter. If the driver refuses to use the meter then it is best to get out and use a different taxi. It is typically easy to catch a taxi in Athens and other large cities, although sometimes the one you flag down will not want to drive you to your desired location. If that is the case, simply wait for the next one.

The taxis in Greece also engage in ride sharing in the sense that they sometimes look for other passengers going to places near your destination if you are riding alone. Please note that taxis will board other passengers on the way but that does not mean you will receive a discount on the ride. Be aware that after midnight taxi fares increase. ALWAYS ask for a receipt from the taxi driver, as he/she is required by law to provide you with one and check that is the correct amount that you need to pay. For cab drivers, a 5-10 % tip is expected. Luggage also has an extra charge; there is an add-on fee for pick-ups or drop offs to airports, port, and bus stations.

Taxi drivers in general speak a surprisingly limited amount of English given that tourism is such a large part of the Greek economy. It does not hurt to have the name of your destination written down or a map available where you can point to where you are headed. If all else fails, use the phrase "Thelo na pao sto..." ("I want to go to...")

Travel outside Greece
You are strongly encouraged not to travel to any areas designed as hazardous or unsafe by the U.S. State Department. Make sure to check with the U.S. State Department, Embassy or Consulate regarding the safety of any areas which you are planning to travel to, or through, before you make any travel plans. You must leave a travel itinerary with the Resident Director as well as a family member or friend in the U.S. in case someone needs to reach you as well as for your own safety.

Communication

Telephone
General calling information is available in the general IAP Study Abroad Handbook. In Athens, the kiosks around the city offer the cheapest way to make local or international calls. Pre-paid phone cards such as SMILE +WEB, TALK TALK, start from 3-5 Euros each (for max talk time to the U.S up to 2 hours) and can be used from any land line. If you use the phone card from your hotel room, you will be charged a minimum local call fee.

Alternatively, you may purchase a SIM card to add to your cell phone (for 5 Euros), obtain a Greek cell phone number (companies such as TIM, Cosmote, Vodaphone) and receive calls from the US for no charge and make outgoing calls at rates varying between 1-2 Euros per minute.
To call abroad if you are in Greece, dial 00 then 1, followed by the area code and phone number. Local and international calls can also be made from public cardphone booths and kiosks (periptera) equipped with meters. Telecards can be purchased from kiosks.

Greece is 2 hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time. With reference to North American time zones (EST), it is 7 hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time, 8 hrs. ahead of Central Standard Time, 9 hrs. ahead of Mountain Standard Time and 10 hrs. ahead of Pacific Standard Time. In Greece, the 24-hour-clock system is used officially, so for example, noon is 12:00, 4pm is 16:00 and 11pm is 23:00. Popularly, however, expressions such as "2 in the afternoon "and" 8 at night" are used.

Email
There is Internet access in each hotel (except Hotel Rex) but there are also Internet cafes in the neighborhoods. Internet access should be fairly easy to find in heavy tourist areas in Athens and throughout Europe.

Events and Literature

Events
There are many cultural events around Athens and Greece. Please consult the newspaper “Athens News” (on stands every Friday) to check for theatres, movies (original versions), opera (“The Megaron of Music”), art galleries and special events.

Recommended Literature
Fiction: The Mask of Apollo and The King Must Die by Mary Renault; Women of Andros by Thornton Wilder; The Colossus of Maroussi by Henry Miller; Zorba The Greek and A Modern Sequel to the Odyssey by Nikos Kazantsakis

Classics: Homer’s The Iliad and The Odyssey (translations by Robert Fitzgerald); Mythology by Edith Hamilton

History: From Alpha to Omega: The Life and Times of the Greek Alphabet by Alexander and Nicholas Humez

Art and architecture: Greek Art by John Boardman

Travel: Literally Companion to Traveling in Greece, by Richard Stoneman; Patrick Fermor’s personal journeys to "Mani" or "Roumeli." You may also find a lot of individual guides, published by Lycabettus Press, rich in photography, lively folk and historical lore as well as FROMMER'S Budget Travel Guides or Lonely Planet Guides.
Student Testimonials

The testimonials below are from past participants; they reflect various students’ experiences and are included to provide different perspectives. IAP does not endorse any specific view expressed in this section.

Preparations Before Leaving

I would recommend packing skirts and pants but no shorts. No one in Athens (besides small children) wear them, so you will stick out like a sore thumb if you do. Also, bring lots of sunscreen and Aloe.

I wish I would have packed mini laundry soap packets to clean my clothes in the sink or tub because it is very difficult to find a Laundromat. Plus, you don't exactly have room in your luggage to pack enough clothes for the entire month. Some of the girls brought soap, which was very helpful. We just hung our stuff out to dry over the balcony.

Travel and Arrival Information

When you are leaving Athens and need to go to the airport, I recommend taking a bus to get there. The subway ticket dispensers are not very clear unless you know Greek. You need a special 5 euro ticket for the subway going to the airport. Police patrol the airport train and will fine you 10 euro for having the wrong tickets.

I most definitely recommend taking the bus instead of a taxi from the airport. It was cheap and drops you off right in the center of Athens. Otherwise the Metro was really convenient and cheap as well for travel on your own or just around the area.

Academic Program

The course required a lot of reading, which if you read a little bit everyday is very manageable. I saved all my reading for a day where there wasn't too much going on, which I would not suggest doing as I didn’t fully comprehend what I was learning during each of the field trips.

Just because there is no midterm exam, don’t think that the final will be easy. If students are concerned about their grade, they should keep up with the readings, especially pay attention to the professor’s lectures, and study well for the final.

Living Abroad

As a female, it is wise to have a guy with you when traveling around Athens as you will be harassed less.

My favorite part of the trip was when we stayed overnight on the islands. Some of the students went to Santorini while others went to Mykonos, but we all agreed it was worth the extra money and the trip. I would highly suggest checking out the islands, they have a very different lifestyle than the Athenians do for the most part.
If you have the time, I suggest going to the islands for a weekend. Boat fare is cheap and when I went to Santorini there were locals waiting at the dock to offer you very cheap, but nice accommodations.

In Greece, credit cards are pretty much useless. They operate on a cash based economy, so bring a debit card (ATM's are around) and cash. Everyone will bargain with you for meals and gifts, but only if you pay cash.

On my own, I began to know Athens really well from jogging around it in the morning and just exploring. I do wish that I had ventured a little farther out on days when there was not a lot we had to do. The countryside is gorgeous.

Keeping all your money in one place is not advised - guard against possible loss by leaving a small stash of money in your hotel room or buried in your backpack, with record of the travelers check serial numbers, credit card numbers, and your passport number.

The program was amazing! It scheduled a lot of exciting trips. Athens was the best place to be immersed in the culture, but I do wish that we were able to spend more time getting to know the culture of the people who lived outside of the big city. A month is such a short time to do all there is to do in Greece. The food is great, the weather is great, and the water is amazing. Anyone who does this program will have an unforgettable time and some absolutely priceless pictures.
